THE Clandeſtine Marriage,
A COMEDY:
As it is acted at the Theatre Royal in Drury Lane.
By GEORGE COLMAN, Eſq; Author of the And DAVID GARRICK, Eſq; (Connoiſſeur.

This Comedy the offspring of the united Efforts of perhaps two of the greateſt Genius's that this or any other Age hath produced, is fraught with Entertainment. Some of the Scenes are truly comic, others inculcate the ſtricteſt morality, and all of them are real paintings from nature; the ſtory is well conducted, the characters uniformly well ſupported, the plot judiciouſly work'd up and unravell'd, and the moral inimitable: which laſt ſhews, that acting contrary to the will of our parents, tho' at length forgiveneſs may be obtain'd ſeldom fails to involve the offender into the moſt exquiſite diſtreſs, and however ſucceſsful, is always attended with remorſe.

The characters are the conceited, infirm, and antiquated; yet generous Lord Ogleby—the vulgar, money-loving Sterling—the ſenſible Lovewell—the ſycophant Canton—the impudent Bruſh—Mrs. Heidelberg the Dutch widow, an ignorant pretender to quality manners—the pert, ſpiteful Miſs Sterling, diſplaying in reality the modern fine Lady, and the amiable, gentle, and delicate Miſs Fanny—who all together form a group that muſt afford great entertainment to every reader.

The Prologue and Epilogue are both written by Mr. Garrick, the laſt of which is very remarkable for its ſingularity and humour.

At the above Store may be had all the beſt Engliſh Comedies and Tragedies, among which are the following New Ones.

Falſtaff's Wedding, a Comedy.

By JOHN MORGAN, M. D. Fellow of the Royal Society, &c.

As to the Merits of this Performance, the Monthly Review ſpeaks highly in it's Commendation, and gives ſome Extracts from it to form "an Idea of the Zeal and Abilities of Dr. MORGAN, who if he ſucceeds in his Attempt to eſtabliſh proper Schools of Phyſic in Philadelphia, will doubtleſs deſerve the warmeſt Acknowledgments from his fellow Citizens, and will be remember'd by their Poſterity with Reverence and Gratitude." The Authors of the Critical Review are alſo full in it's Praiſes, and "hope the ſenſible Author will not be heard in vain, on a ſubject of ſo much public Benefit in America, where all the Branches of Phyſic, Surgery and Pharmacy are render'd imperfect, by joining them together in one perſon, as is at preſent almoſt univerſally purſued in America", and obſerve, "that ſuch an improper Union, is rather the Conſequence than the Cauſe of Ignorance in thoſe who profeſs them", they conclude it's Character by ſaying, "the Abilities with which Dr. Morgan has planned this Inſtitution, and the Ardour with which he has proſecuted it's Accompliſhment, merit the higheſt Applauſe of his Countrymen."

From the St. J. Chronicle, February 15. 1766.

To the PRINTER:

SIR,

YESTERDAY being the 14th of February, and the 45th day of the year, a society of Gentlemen, consisting of forty five, met in the evening at the Mitre tavern in Fleet-street, to celebrate that remarkable day, it being the anniversary on which Mr. John Williams was appointed to be in the New Palace yard opposite Westminster-hall, on account of selling the North Briton, No. 45, in volumes.—On that glorious day in 1765 he was saluted by a prodigious concourse of people, with the loudest acclamations; the shouts continued for near an hour, and the general cry was, Wilkes and Liberty-! and Forty five forever!—We therefore request, that you will insert the following loyal and patriotic toasts, that were given on the occasion of this meeting; which will, as we apprehend, much oblige all the King's real friends, in Europe, Asia, Africa, and America; and, in particular,

Your most obedient, humble servants,

No. FORTY-FIVE.

Forty five Toasts.

1. The King and Queen, and speedy perdition to their enemies.
2. The Prince of Wales and all the Brunswick line.
3. Confusion to the advocates for the Stuart race.
4. To the glorious and immortal memory of King William III, who delivered our brave ancestors from the popish and tyrannical house of Stuart.
5. To the pious memory of that illustrious Queen Elizabeth, who reigned in the hearts of her people 45 years.
6. Confusion to our foreign and domestick compact enemies.
7. May placemen, pimps, and pensioners be reduced, they being a canker to the commonwealth.
8. To the memory of that magnanimous prince, Edward the Third.
9. May every treacherous favourite be rewarded with an ax, or meet with Mortimer's fate.
10. To that truly noble peer and upright judge Lord Camden.
11. May the inhabitants of one end of Pall mall never be controuled by those of the other end.
12. To that noble patriot Earl Temple, who, from his inflexible integrity, has refused the most lucrative employments, rather than list under the banner of the Curtain Dictator, and his scottified creatures.
13. To the right hon. W. Pitt, who in the most corrupt times, has the courage to speak his sentiments in vindication of the people's rights, and may the King of Kings long preserve that patriot, as an ornament and blessing to these kingdoms.
14. To all staunch revolutionists, and friends to Liberty.
15. May the repeated rebellions that have burst forth in the North, be ever fresh in the minds of all South Britons.
16. To the memory of that much beloved King, George the First.
17. To the memory of that noble spirited brave King, George the Second.
18. Infamy and disgrace to every Englishman who would change his hat for a bonnet.
19. A speedy revival of the antient British spirit.
20. Never-failing perseverance to the opposers of popery, slavery, and arbitrary power.
21. To the memory of Algernon Sidney, Hamden, Pym, and Ludlow, and all the great patriots who have bravely stood forth in the defence of Liberty.
22. To the immortal memory of the brave old Barons.
23. May the timorous and dim-sighted, the lukewarm and the lethargic, be restored to good sight, be inspired with resolution and spirit, and be strengthned with understanding.
24. To our wives and sweethearts, and may we ever love and cherish them;—but no petticoat government.
25. De Witt's fate to every base wretch who would attempt to alienate the affections of the bravest people from the best of kings.
26. To the grateful remembrance of our happy deliverance on April 16th, 1746.
27. To the memory of the Duke of Argyle, and those few Scotchmen, who were real friends to the revolution, and the house of Hanover.
28. May corruption be rooted up, and triennial parliaments be restored.
29. May our enormous army be reduced, and the penal laws be repealed.
30. May no one harbour a viper in his bosom.
31. Disgrace and infamy attend all spies and informers, ineffable priests, and blasphemy blowers, impeaching twitchers, & double feed lawyers, bloodhounds, and perjured villians, and target poppers, and every base instrument of arbitrary power and star-chamber proceedings.
32. May the secret machinations of northern jugglers, with our perfidious and inveterate enemies, be always detected in due time.
33. May new Churchills arise, to scourge venal wretches, women haters, cowards, and traitors.
34. May Juries preserve their dignity and act with resolution, nor ever suffer themselves to be bullied or brow beat by any impudent or arbitrary lawyer; for agreable to the constitutional right of Juries, they are judges of the law as well as fact.
35. May the English of every rank thro'out the nation, oppose star chamber proceedings, and hold the name of Stuart and Jefferies in detestation.
36. May the friends of the house of Hanover go to Tower-hill and Tyburn, to see the enemies of our most gracious sovereign suitably rewarded.
37. To the five noble advocates for the brave Americans.
38. To the 274 commoners.
39. May the names of the 134 enforcers be made known to the public.
40. May the blessings of Heaven attend those who endeavour to promote the repeal of the stamp-act.
41. To the immortal memory of the brave Duke of Cumberland, by whose magnanimity the foul and dreadful rebellion, which broke out in 1745 was totally crushed.
42. His Majesty the King of Prussia.
43. May our well disposed ministry be inspired with magnanimity and integrity; may they, in defiance of a scottified faction, give the most salutary councils to our gracious sovereign, and may our enemies be chastised for their insults, and breaches of the Scotch peace.
44. Mr. John Williams.
45. Health and prosperity to Mr. Wilkes, and may the year 1700 and 45, this 45th day of the year, and Number 45, never be forgotten. Amen.

Huzza! Huzza! Huzza!

QUEBEC, July 3.

Saturday the 28th ult. at 11 o'Clock in the Forenoon, His Excellency the Honourable JAMES MURRAY, Esq; Governor of this Province, embark'd on board the Ship Little William, Capt. John Grant, for England.

The same Day, at 11 o'Clock at Night, arrived in this City from London, on board the Commerce, Capt. Johnson, Mr. BRIAND, Bishop of Quebec, for the Roman Catholicks, who manifested on this Occasion all their Affection for what concerns their Religion. On the Day following, at 5 o'Clock in the Morning, the Bells of all their Churches announced his Arrival to the whole City, which gave such general Satisfaction to the Canadians, that many of them were seen to shed Tears thro' Joy. It was really affecting to see them congratulate each other wherever they met, and to hear them incessantly say one to another, "It is then true "that we have a Bishop; God hath taken pity of "us:" And to see them afterwards run in Crowds to the Parish Church to see this Bishop, whom they look upon as the Support of their Religion, and as a Pledge of the King's paternal Goodness to them. In Fact, at the same Time that they publickly bless the Lord for having given them a Bishop they loudly proclaim their Gratitude to his Majesty for having attended to their Requests: It is likely that this Favour confer'd on the Canadians by the King, will effectually attach them to the British Government. It is also very pleasing to them, to have received on this Occasion the Congratulations of several Persons of Note of our Nation, who indeed seem to partake of their Joy. And we doubt not, but that the Canadians, who appear to be very susceptible of Gratitude, will by those Means become more firmly united to us.

The Little William was met in her Way by the Commerce, Capt. Johnson, on board of which were the Hon. Thomas Mills, Esq; appointed by his Majesty one of the Council, and Receiver-General of this Province; and a Major of Brigade for one of the Divisions in North-America.

On Monday Morning last the Civil and Military Officers, the Priests, and Gentlemen of the several religious Orders, Merchants and others, waited upon the Hon. Lieutenant-Colonel PAULUS ÆMILIUS IRVING, President of the Council, to compliment him on his taking the Civil Command.

By Letters from London we learn, that Col. Carlton, appointed Lieut. Governor of this Province, and Commander in Chief of his Majesty's Forces for the Northern District, was to sail for this Place about the 15th of May last.

PHILADELPHIA, July 24.

On Thursday Morning last departed this Life, in this City, the Rev. Doctor SAMUEL FINLEY, President of the College of New-Jersey, in the 51st Year of his Age, and was interred in a plain Manner, pursuant to his own Request, the Morning following, in the New Presbyterian Church, where a Sermon, suitable to the Occasion, was preached by the Rev. Mr. Richard Treat.

We hear that on the 14th Instant, the Honourable Sir WILLIAM JOHNSON, Baronet, was at the German Flatts, on his Way to Oswego, to meet Pondiac, and the Western Nations.

Sunday last the Snow Henn, Captain Harkies, sailed for New-York, with the Right Hon. Lord HOPE on board.

NEW-YORK, July 28.

A Special Commission we are told has been given out for the Trial of some of the Rioters in the Upper Counties; and on Thursday his Honor Chief Justice Horsmanden embarked for Dutchess County, accompanied by some of his Majesty's Council, Attorney General, Lawyers, &c.---And on Saturday William Pendergast, who was lately apprehended and brought to our Goal, as one of the Principals, for High Treason, was, under a strong Guard of Grenadiers, removed on board a Sloop to be carried up for Tryal. vid pa. 455 477.

NEW-HAVEN, July 26.

A Report prevails that some unaccountable Noises were lately heard near Hartford; and, 'tis said, via Derby, that a few Men being lately at Work in a Wood, they were terrified with an extraordinary Voice, commanding them to read the Seventh Chapter of Ezekiel. Some laugh at it, and recollect the substantial Appearance of a young Man near Boston.---Tis a pious, well-meaning, serpentine Design, says one; tis an Imposition on the Ignorant and Enthusiastick, cries another; and all undoubtedly give their different Judgment according to Knowledge and Faith; but in this they must agree, that the Holy Bible has been and is often opened to discover and read the Chapter mentioned.

"Nature well known, no Prodigies remain;
"Comets are regular, Eclipses plain.

BOSTON, AUGUST 4.

Monday Morning last departed this Life, in the 82d Year of her Age, Madam HANNAH WILLARD, the pious, virtuous and amiable Relict of the late Hon. JOSIAH WILLARD, Esq; Secretary of this Province---a Lady, who, from Principles of Christian Faith and Piety, discharged the various Duties of a long Life, in very extensive Connections, with unblemished Integrity, chearful and benevolent Assiduity, and invariable Constancy; met her approaching Dissolution with an happy Composure of Mind and Resignation to the divine Will; and died in the serene and joyful Hope of immortal Life and Felicity---leaving us an illustrious Example of the Virtues and Graces which adorn, and of the Peace which closes the Life of a sincere Christian.----Her Remains were decently interred last Thursday Afternoon.

My Soul! henceforth in sweetest Union join
Which some, erroneous, think can never meet,
True Taste of Life, and constant, Thought of Death!
The Thought of Death, sole Victor of its Dread!
Dr. YOUNG.

By Capt. Wier from Quebec, we learn, that all sorts of Provisions were exceeding Plenty. Several large Ships had sailed from thence for Europe, laden with Wheat.

The following Story has been related to us, viz. A Number of infirm Persons in a large Town in one of the neighbouring Colonies, not being able to travel to Stafford, hired a Person to go thither and procure some of the mineral Water:---The Man obtained about 30 Gallons in a Barrel: On his Return he informed the People at the several Stages where he stopped what he had got, who were very earnest with him to spare some, this Opportunity he embraced to make Money, and accordingly sold it a Dollar per Gallon, and by smaller Quantities in proportion; but he took Care when he came to a Brook to fill up his Cask. When the Man returned to his Employers he delivered them their Barrel full of Water, who eagerly received and drank of it, without applying to any of our modern Chymists to ascertain how many Carats it wanted of Coming up to the Standard; however the People believing it genuine, soon found the salutary Effects thereof. The Man sold, as he computed, 160 Gallons. The Brooks he stopped at, by the way, were in this Province.

Last Week was erected in King's Chapple in this Town, a MONUMENT, Sacred to the Memory of SAMl. VASSAL, Esq: of London, Merchant, one of the Original Proprietors of the Lands of this Country; a steady and undaunted Asserter of the Liberties of England: In 1628 he was the first who boldly refused to submit to the Tax of Tunnage and Poundage, an unconstitutional Claim of the Crown arbitrarily imposed; for (which to the Ruin of his Family) his Goods were seized and his Person imprisoned by the Star Chamber Court: He was chosen to represent the City of London in two successive Parliaments, which met April 13. Nov. 3d 1640. the Parliament in 1641 Voted him £.10445 12s. 2d. for his Damages, and Resolved, he should be further consider'd for his Personal Sufferings: but the Rage of the Times, and Neglect of proper Application since, have left to his Family only the Honor of that Vote and Resolution: He was one of the largest Subscribers to raise Money against the Rebels in Ireland: All these Facts may be seen in the Journals of the House of Commons. He was Son of the gallant JOHN VASSAL, who in 1588, at his own Expence, fitted out and commanded two Ships of War, with which he joined the Royal Navy to oppose the Spanish Armada.

This Monument was erected by his great grand Son HORENTIUS VASSAL, Esq: of the Island of Jamaica, now residing in England.

The 25th ult. a Schooner arrived here from Louisbourg, by which we learn, that some Time before she sailed from thence, his Majesty's armed Schooner the St. Lawrence, commanded by Lieut. Dundass, was struck by Lightning as she lay at Anchor there, which set Fire to the Powder Magazine in the Fore Part of the Vessel and blew her up. By this Accident three Men were instantly killed, and several others terribly wounded, two of whom died the next Day: We hear that the Officers on board, being in the Cabin, escaped unhurt; and that the Bows of the Vessel being carried away by the Explosion, she sunk soon after.

The great Fame of the Mineral Spring in Stafford in Connecticut, has disposed a Number of Persons to search for some of the same Qualities in other Parts of that Colony; and after many Experiments one Spring has been discovered at Mansfield, by Mr. Ebenezer Gay, which is superior in strength to that of Stafford.

Capt. Mackiver in a Mast-Ship from England, but last from Gibraltar, is arrived at Portsmouth.

SUCH Innholders who keep good Houses of Entertainment, and were omitted in last Almanack, also those who have removed to any of the Stages, are requested to send their Names & Distance from each other, (free of Charge) to Richard and Samuel Draper, Printers in Boston. No correct Account of the Stages will be collected by any other.
